DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Blatz (US 5,770,654) in view of Hedrick et al. (US 3,419,517) for the reasons adequately set forth from paragraph 3 of non-final office action of February 23, 2005.

Applicant's arguments filed February 23, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants argue that the references of Blatz and Hedrick et al.

are not combinable because Blatz in the claims recites "consisting essentially of" and therefore Blatz's teaching teaches away from the claimed invention and from Hedrick et al. However, the examiner disagrees because the recited "consisting essentially of" in Blatz is a language for pointing out preferable embodiment of the disclosed teachings. Because the teaching of a reference is not limited to its preferable embodiment, the combination of the references to Blatz and Hedrick et al. is proper.

Regarding applicants' argument that the Notch Izod properties of the claimed invention is lower as compared to the Notch Izod properties of Blatz, and concluding that the motivation set forth by the examiner is considered invalid. However, the examiner disagrees because the motivation to combine the references is clearly as indicated in Hedrick et al. (col. 4, line 34-66) which is related to the reinforcing properties of the combined teachings. Applicants must recognize that the examiner is not restricted to use motivation as suggested by applicants.

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

Art Unit: 1713

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
